This Handbook is about aligning Bloomsburg University of Pennsylvania's Strategic Plan with its identity, image, and reputation, in providing its most valuable stakeholders-The Students, with first class global education. Therefore, the author thanks the following visionaries for their leadership and forward thinking in striving to make Bloomsburg University a model institution of Global Education for the Pennsylvania State System of Higher Education (PASSHE), the Middle States Commission on Higher Education (MSCHE), and to our affiliate partners around the world.

Dr. Ira K. Blake, Provost and Senior Vice President of Academic Affairs, Bloomsburg University of Pennsylvania

Dr. Jonathan M. Lincoln, Vice Provost, Dean of Undergraduate Education, and Interim Dean of the College of Science and Technology, Bloomsburg University of Pennsylvania

Mr. Thomas D. Fletcher, Associate Vice President and Dean of Extended Programs, Bloomsburg University of Pennsylvania

Dr. Sheila Dove Jones, Director of Planning and Assessment, Bloomsburg University of Pennsylvania

PROLOGUE

This Handbook provides faculty and staff with guidelines to follow when developing short-term faculty led trips abroad. Global education has become increasingly populated with undergraduate students in the United States with varied destinations around the world. Bloomsburg University students are not exempted from the surge. To provide students with the best global academic programs, and cultural immersion experiences, Bloomsburg University has initiated standards of good practice for global education for faculty, staff, and students. These standards include the delivery of approved cost effective programs, student learning outcomes and assessment plans (SLOs), and study abroad code of ethics. Therefore, all global and domestic education programs are requested to abide by the policy and guidelines of the handbook in order to provide appropriate educational and cultural immersion programs to our students.

All continuing programs and newly developed programs must undergo a review process and be approved. To accomplish this in a timely manner, faculty and staff coordinators in charge of established and new programs are expected to submit their proposals with detailed deliverables by the deadline date. The whole proposal is treated as one document and should be submitted in a Spiral Binder.

The program proposal must be completed and signed by the Program Coordinators, Department Chairpersons whose faculty and staff are involved in the program, Director of Planning and Assessment, Associate Vice President and Dean of Extended Programs, Deans of the Colleges whose faculty and staff are involved in the program, Director of Global and Multicultural Education, and Provost and Senior Vice President of Academic Affairs prior to ADVERTISING the established program or the newly developed program.

An Ideal Communication Process Framework is illustrated with various figures to help faculty and staff with navigating the Organizational Communication with different constituencies at the Home University and Host University. The Figures demonstrate the Directions of Communication Flow within the process. If followed appropriately, the Communication Processes should be simple, easy, and quick. The Communication Framework is intended to eliminate the usual unnecessary delays that usually end up in misunderstandings and communication breakdown.

PROLOGUE

Middle States Commission on Higher Education

As an accredited institution, our product (global education) branding is governed by our identity, image, and reputation, as reflected in our vision, mission, core values, mandates, and objectives. According to our accrediting body the MSCHE, all global education programs must be at par or supersede the policy and guidelines set forth for International Programs as explained below.

All International Programs Should:

- “meet all accreditation standards.
- meet standards for quality of instruction, academic rigor, educational effectiveness, and student achievement comparable to those of other institutional offerings. Resources such as student services should be appropriate to the culture and mores of the international setting.
- be rooted in the institution’s mission and have clear educational goals.
- reflect the educational emphasis of the U.S. institution, including commitment to general education, with appropriate adaptation to the culture of the location abroad.
- be included in its regular budgeting and auditing processes, and be offered without diminishing its financial support for its US operations.
- provide the Commission on request accurate financial records for the program, including accounting for funds designated for third parties within any contractual relationship.
- meet all internal and external approval requirements, such as that of the governing body, system administration, government bodies, and accrediting associations, both in the U.S. and abroad, including consultation with national quality assurance agencies in countries where programs are offered.
- share with prospective and enrolled students, the following types of information:
  - the learning goals of the program
  - the relationship, if any, to a foreign institution
  - grading practices and policies for assigning credit, especially if several institutions are involved with a single overseas institution or consortium
  - significant differences between the home campus experience and what can be expected abroad
  - the extent of responsibility assumed by the program for housing participants
  - what services will and will not be provided.
- maintain official records of academic credit earned in its international program if academic credits earned in the program abroad are applicable to degree programs in the accredited member institution, and the official transcript should follow the institution’s practices in identifying every site or through course numbering the credits earned in its off campus programs.
- inform students in advance that they will ordinarily not receive credit for foreign study undertaken without prior planning or approval by the students’ home campus administrators.
- assure fair reimbursement to participants if the program is not delivered as promised for reasons within the institution’s control, or because of international exigencies” (MSCHE: International Programs, p. 5.1, 2004).

ADVERTISING STUDY ABROAD PROGRAMS

- ☐ The Advertisement of the Study Abroad Programs cannot occur before the Approval Process is completed
- ☐ The simple procedure that is demonstrated in Figure 6 is required to avoid providing students with conflicting, incorrect, and misleading information, which may damage the program's credibility in the larger stakeholder environment

- ☐ A major part of successful program advertising is to develop a coherent program identity, image, and reputation for your study abroad program
- ☐ Advertising is a method of communicating your product to your clients. The more the product is appealing, the more the customers will be enticed to buy into it

PART II

IDEAL COMMUNICATION FRAMEWORK FOR STUDY ABROAD PROGRAM DEVELOPMENT AND APPROVAL PROCESS

COMMUNICATION FRAMEWORK

ADVERTISING STUDY ABROAD PROGRAMS

- ☐ The materials that are utilized for advertising should be clear, honest, and consistently reflect the overall content of the study abroad program
- ☐ The advertisement should accurately reveal the additional or out of pocket expenses to students
- ☐ There are several types of advertising different academic programs or even products such as books, clothing, motor vehicles, etc., however, the basic principles of honest advertising apply to all products advertising such as:
  - ☐ Being Strategic: You want your program to have longevity
  - ☐ Being Consistent: The advertisement must be consistent with the program objectives and goals.
  - ☐ Being Truthful: Only promise what the study abroad program is designed to deliver. False advertising can damage not only the image and reputation of program but also the identity, image, and the reputation of Bloomsburg University

AN IDEAL COMMUNICATION FRAMEWORK FOR STUDY ABROAD PROGRAM DEVELOPMENT AND APPROVAL PROCESS

CIVILITY IN ORGANIZATIONAL COMMUNICATION

As an organizational Communication scholar who has studied and is familiar with the works of Organizational Theorist Karl Weick (developed decades past), forward his sentiments in this handbook of how communication behaviors that occurs among employees forms the organization's culture. Work organizations exist due to the exchanges of ideas and information through persuasion, decision making, and critical evaluation and analysis of information during various interactions within and among organizational constituencies. Because organizations are constructed, constituted and maintained through interactions, civility in organizational communication becomes key and center stage in sustaining civil communication and or avoiding organizational entropy (Troester & Mester, 2007).

Communication competence and civility are the most important aspects of team collaboration in global education program development, delivery, evaluation, and success.

Research, as defined by the Bloomsburg University Graduate Council Research Committee, is the systematic inquiry/investigation of a specified problem or set of problems with the goal of advancing the discipline. Therefore, all research involving human subjects will be reviewed, prior to the initiation of the research, through the procedures set forth by the University and directed by the Institutional Review Board (IRB). Failure to submit research for review and approval is a violation of Bloomsburg University policy.

The University assumes responsibility for encouraging research activities to benefit advancement of knowledge of human conditions and, at the same time, protecting the rights and welfare of human subjects, the investigators, and the University. This includes assuring the scientific validity of the research methodology as it relates to the protection of human subjects. #### COMMUNICATION MANAGEMENT

STRATEGIC COMMUNICATIONS PLAN

- ☐ The major part of a successful study abroad program delivery is efficient communication with stakeholders at all points of the program duration. It is therefore vital to institute a Communication Network that is effective in structure and functional that reaches all the participating members at the same time.
- ☐ Two types of communication networks are illustrated in the following page. The networks demonstrate how communication design is different for every setting depending on the nature of the content.
- ☐ There are a number of methods that program coordinators can implement to keep the lines of communications open while abroad through the utilization of new channels such as:
  - ☐ Weblogs
  - ☐ Computer-Mediated Communication
  - ☐ Web Conferencing
  - ☐ Video Conferencing
  - ☐ Fax
  - ☐ External Web Sites
  - ☐ Intranets
- ☐ It is imperative to note that every program design is unique and therefore, the choice of channel should be one that suits the needs of the program.

COMMUNICATION MANAGEMENT

COMMUNICATION MANAGEMENT

- The Circle Pattern of Communication provides all members of the group with equal opportunity to communication
- This pattern provides the most satisfaction to all members but it is slow and time consuming due to the number of linkages in the network. Although satisfying, this approach is not suitable for FLT programs given that it is prone to misunderstandings, vineyard shenanigans, misinformation, rumors, and information overload.

- Although the direction of communication flow is based on the Modern Classical Perspective, Human Relations and Human Resources Perspectives are incorporated in the direction of the Communication Networks as well.
- This pattern of communication is most effective in formal work organizations including institutions of higher learning.
- In simple logic, the direction of communication is multidirectional in nature and is most efficient and effective in team-based interactions which in a sense, reflects the mandates of the Office of Global Education at Bloomsburg University of Pennsylvania

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION AND RATIONALE

CRISIS COMMUNICATION AND MANAGEMENT

DEFINE THE CRISIS

- ☐ The Office of Global Education are committed to open and accurate communication with our stakeholders, and expect to do the same at times of crises as well
- ☐ A crisis is something to all human beings can relate to. It can be as simple as falling down and breaking your patella on a icy pavement after a “Ice Storm,” being mugged in broad daylight while walking in the streets of X City; drinking water and eating unsanitary food, being left at the airport, breaking the local laws and being arrested while studying overseas; contracting Malaria, medical evacuation, etc.
- ☐ The following list contain some of the major crises that are prone to occur on study abroad trips that can cause shockwaves across international borders:
  - ☐ A study abroad student goes missing in Ireland because the student got intoxicated and was left on a train passed out. The program coordinator will therefore be exposed to:
    - ☐ Media Attention and Scrutiny
    - ☐ Panicking Parents
    - ☐ Home University Personnel requesting immediate actions and results
    - ☐ Dealing with local authorities
  - ☐ A study abroad student gets arrested in The Kingdom of Mali for not observing prayer time
  - ☐ A study abroad student at the University of Nairobi is stranded after the university is shut down due to the rigged presidential election and the subsequent human carnage and chaos that ensued in the whole country. In this scenario,

PART VII

FULL-FLEDGED STUDY ABROAD PROGRAM PROPOSAL AND APPROVAL PROCESS

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION AND RATIONALE

CRISIS COMMUNICATION AND MANAGEMENT

DEFINE THE CRISIS

- ☐ There is potential for food and water shortage
- ☐ There is potential for local resources to be overwhelmed
- ☐ There is potential for lack of public transportation and communications
- ☐ A study abroad student is arrested in the Republic of Kenya for joining the Taliban and protesting against the Kenyan Government for cracking down on the Al-Shabab in Somali Land.
- ☐ Program Coordinators can therefore anticipate some sort of crisis especially when traveling and studying abroad. Although all the examples above are different, they all share some characteristics on most levels

CASE IN POINT

Faculty, Staff, and Bloomsburg University Students have just arrived in the Republic of Good Hope only to find out that the University of Good Hope is closed due to political unrest. The University of Good Hope Personnel did not communicate with Bloomsburg University personnel about the crisis. Consequently, Bloomsburg University Study Abroad Group is stranded in Hotel Smiley and the Group has no way of tracing the University of Good Hope Personnel. Now, how is this crisis similar in characteristics with a study abroad student being arrested, losing the checked-in luggage, or losing a passport?
Here is why:

- ☐ There is a presence of surprise and shock
- ☐ Program Coordinators lack sufficient information to make informed decisions
- ☐ The events are happening so fast on the ground and the media is not able to report actual details of the unrest
- ☐ Intense Scrutiny from Bloomsburg University Stakeholders

PART VII

FULL-FLEDGED STUDY ABROAD PROGRAM PROPOSAL AND APPROVAL PROCESS

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION AND RATIONALE

CRISIS COMMUNICATION AND MANAGEMENT

MANAGE THE CRISIS

- ☐ The best method of dealing with crises is to anticipate a crisis and prepare for the worst
- ☐ Lack of preparation can actually make a crisis worst
- ☐ Managing a crisis involves understanding and defining the crisis
- ☐ It is important to have protocols and communication strategies in place to manage crises when they arise
- ☐ Avoid the strategy of denial that a crisis exists
- ☐ Avoid the strategy of downplaying a crisis. Trying to convince the stakeholders that the crisis is not that bad does not provide any possible solutions
- ☐ Accommodative strategy would be the best approach to preventing crisis from recurring
- ☐ Know the University's Key Spokespersons to contact
- ☐ Bloomsburg University and Program Coordinators do not have the capabilities of knowing and preventing all the crises in the larger environment but being vigilant, prepared, and aware that crises can befall a group of Bloomsburg University students, faculty and staff at any time is the first step in the crises management.
- ☐ Protect and preserve students lives
- ☐ Maintain and preserve Bloomsburg University's Identity, Image, and Reputation
- ☐ Sometimes common sense can be the only strategy in crises prevention, management, and communication

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR CRISIS MANAGEMENT

- ☐ Respond immediately to a crisis. Buying time will not make the crisis go away
- ☐ Develop a plan action
- ☐ Plan for contingencies just the same way when you are planning for the program budget. Always anticipate that something will go wrong
- ☐ Communicate and consult with the Host University and Home University Personnel
- ☐ After the crisis has passed, you should do the following:
  - ☐ Evaluate the results of the crisis
  - ☐ Review the Plan of Action that was utilized in an effort to control the crisis
  - ☐ Make changes for future study abroad program delivery

PROGRAM ASSESSMENT AND EVALUATION

- ☐ The success of a study abroad program depends on the yearly review of its design, financial stability, management, effective delivery, and assessment and evaluation
- ☐ Programs will be reviewed and approved based on their financial sustainability, program objectives, and goals
- ☐ Students should be given the opportunity to evaluate each course including the overall program delivery
- ☐ The collected assessment data will be analyzed and used as program evaluation and improvement tool

PRE-GLOBAL PERSPECTIVE INVENTORY SURVEY

- ☐ The Office of Planning and Assessment will administer the above survey before departure
- ☐ Program Coordinators should inform the students who have been admitted in the program to get information about the survey from the Office of Global Education
- ☐ The survey will be administered Online

FACULTY AND STAFF COURSE EVALUATIONS

- ☐ Faculty and Staff are required to make arrangements and ask a responsible student to administer the end of semester Course Evaluations for both Bloomsburg University Faculty and staff, and Host University Faculty and Staff

FACULTY AND STAFF EXCHANGES AND FULBRIGHT SCHOLAR PROGRAMS

- ☐ Faculty and staff who wish to participate in the Faculty Exchanges and Fulbright Programs should consult their Department Chairpersons and College Deans for such initiatives. The decision rests with the latter whom then, consults with the Provost and Senior Vice President of Academic Affairs.
- ☐ The same process applies when faculty and staff wish to bring overseas scholars as exchange and Fulbright Faculty.
- ☐ Please read Bloomsburg University's Policy on Faculty Exchanges below, which illustrates the responsibilities of the Home and Host Universities. Although the policy does not delineate the preliminary process, ideally the decision to bring a faculty, staff, for exchange or Fulbright Scholar rest with the departments and colleges initiating the invitation, and the Office of the Provost and Senior Vice President of Academic Affairs

BLOOMSBURG UNIVERSITY FACULTY EXCHANGE STATEMENT: PRP 7650

Faculty members engaged in any exchange program will remain the employees of their own institution as if their employment were continuous. They will be responsible to their own president, who may, however, delegate the appropriate authority regarding day-to-day matter to the president of the host institution. Salaries and fringe benefits will be the responsibility of the employing institution and will apply as though the employees had continuous employment. Nothing in this arrangement shall affect superannuation payments, medical benefits, or any other contractual rights of the employees. In academic matters, however, faculty will be governed by practices, policies, and procedures of the host institution, modified by any specific arrangements which may be established. In all personnel matters, the faculty will be treated as visitors to the host institution and not as employees. The cost of the faculty members' transportation to the host institution and return may be paid by the employing institution, provided funds are available for that purpose. All costs of accompanying family members shall be assumed by the faculty members. Visiting faculty will normally pay for their own board and accommodations. Any exchange of houses and vehicles will be a private matter between faculty members.

INTERNATIONAL GRADUATE STUDENTS

- ☐ The Bloomsburg University's Global Exchange Programs are designed for Undergraduate Students and not for Graduate Students.
- ☐ International Graduate students from Affiliate Partner Universities wishing to study at Bloomsburg University should apply as regular International Students. As regular students, they must meet all admission requirements and pay full Bloomsburg University Tuition and Fees
